The language kids speak at home is important.
Japanese is equally important.

Japanese classes for children & for parents.

~What you, as a parent, can do at home for your children~
(for children with foreign connections)

Wouldn't it be wonderful if children could, going forward, master their native tongues and Japanese together?

Come hear about "PikaPika" Japanese language classes for children, opening in December!

Talk with others about your children's studies, their anxieties about their lives, and about your own worries!

Of course, you can also participate with your child! Multilingual staff will be present!
